AC

Darkvision. You can see in dim light within 60 feet of you as if it were bright light, and in darkness as if it were dim light.

Unarmored Defense. While you are wearing no armor and not wielding a shield, your AC equals 17.

Martial Arts. Your unarmed strike does 1d8+5 damage. You can use Strength or Dexterity for these attacks. When you use the Attack action with an unarmed strike or a monk weapon on your turn, you can make one unarmed strike as a bonus action. For example, if you take the Attack action and attack with a quarterstaff, you can also make an unarmed strike as a bonus action, assuming you haven't already taken a bonus action this turn.

Monks Focus. You have 5 Focus Points and your Focus DC is 13

Flurry of Blows (Bonus Action—Focus). You can expend 1 Focus Point to make two Unarmed Strikes as a Bonus Action.

Patient Defense (Bonus Action—Focus). You can take the Disengage action as a Bonus Action. Alternatively, you can expend 1 Focus Point to take both the Disengage and the Dodge actions as a Bonus Action.

Step of the Wind (Bonus Action—Focus). You can take the Dash action as a Bonus Action. Alternatively, you can expend 1 Focus Point to take both the Disengage and Dash actions as a Bonus Action, and your jump distance is doubled for the turn.

Unarmored Movement. Your speed increases by 10 feet while you are not wearing armor or wielding a shield.

Uncanny Metabolism (1/Long Rest). When you roll Initiative, you can regain all expended Focus Points. When you do so, roll your Martial Arts die, and regain a number of Hit Points equal to your Monk level plus the number rolled.

Way of the Kensei. Channels ki through a set of mastered weapons

Deflect Attack (Reaction). When an attack roll hits you and its damage includes Bludgeoning, Piercing, or Slashing damage, you can take a Reaction to reduce the attack's total damage against you. When you do so, the damage you take from the attack is reduced by 1d10+10. If you reduce the damage to 0, you can expend 1 Focus Point to redirect some of the attack's force. If you do so, choose a creature you can see within 5 feet of yourself if the attack was a melee attack or a creature you can see within 60 feet of yourself that isn't behind Total Cover if the attack was a ranged attack. That creature must succeed on a Dexterity saving throw or take damage equal to two rolls of your Martial Arts die plus your Dexterity modifier. The damage is the same type dealt by the attack.

Slow Fall (Reaction). Reduce any falling damage you take by 25.

Extra Attack. You can attack twice, instead of once, whenever you take the Attack action on your turn.

Stunning Strike (Focus). When you hit another creature with a melee weapon attack, you can spend 1 Focus point to attempt a stunning strike. The target must succeed on a Constitution saving throw or be stunned until the end of your next turn.

Path of the Kensei. Your kensei weapons are monk weapons.
Kensei Weapon (Longsword).
Kensei Weapon (Longbow).

Agile Parry (Kensei Weapon). If you make an unarmed strike as part of the Attack action on your turn, you can use a melee kensei weapon to defend yourself. You gain a +2 bonus to AC until the start of your next turn, while the weapon is in your hand and you aren't incapacitated.

Kensei's Shot (Bonus Action—Kensei Weapon). Until the end of the current turn, any target you hit with a ranged attack using a kensei weapon takes an extra 1d4 damage of the weapons type.

TRINKET

Stabby Sharpblade was born into the chaotic Bloodfang Clan, a goblin tribe notorious for its fierce survivalist ways, deep within the twisted region of Bloodthorn Hollow. From an early age, Stabby stood out—not for his strength, but for his speed, cunning, and love of chaos. In a clan where might ruled, Stabby quickly learned how to outmaneuver bigger and stronger goblins, relying on his agility and unpredictability to survive.

Stabby earned his surname, Sharpblade, after winning a duel against a group of rival goblins using only a broken sword. His clan respected his fighting prowess, but Stabby's curiosity and craving for adventure set him apart from his kin. While the Bloodfang Clan thrived on raids and conflict, Stabby sought something more exciting, something that didn't involve the same old goblin squabbles.

During one of his wanderings, Stabby encountered Master Kaelon Windstep, a monk of the Whispering Breeze Clan. The monk's calm demeanor and graceful combat intrigued Stabby. He spent a brief time learning from Kaelon, picking up key lessons about balance, patience, and speed. Although Stabby never fully embraced the disciplined ways of the monks, he added their techniques to his own chaotic style, blending grace with his wild and unpredictable fighting.

Once his training ended, Stabby left Bloodthorn Hollow to seek bigger adventures. His travels eventually led him to Lilly Glimmergear and Ursa Catchum, two adventurers with talk of magical creatures, enchanted potatoes, and dangerous quests. With his love for chaos and thrill-seeking nature, Stabby eagerly joined their party, excited by the prospects of new adventures and the promise of causing more mischief.

Though unpredictable and sometimes difficult to read, Stabby is fiercely loyal to Lilly and Ursa, considering them his closest allies in this strange world. Now, as he journeys with them, Stabby looks for every opportunity to hone his chaotic fighting skills and embrace whatever wild adventures come their way.
